

GOMPERS TALKS
ABOUT DECISIONAgrees With Shepard's Dissenting
Opinion—Court Modifies
Gould's Decree.

Washington, March 12.—In commenting on the decision of the court of appeals of the District of Columbia, whereby the injunction obtained by the Bucks Stove and Range company in Justice Gould's court against the American Federation of Labor, is modified so as to permit free reference to the stove company in the columns of the American Federationist, except by inclusion in the "We Don't Patronize List," President Gompers said:

"The dissenting opinion of Chief Justice Shepard is exactly that for which the federation has been all along contending, so far as it refers to the freedom of the press. The right to freely express opinions is a constitutional guaranty. There is nothing libelous in anything the federation has published in connection with this whole case."

The decision was handed down by Justice Robb, and holds that the decree should be modified to the extent that it shall only restrain the defendants from conspiring or combining to boycott the Bucks Stove and Range company, or threatening or declaring any boycott or assisting therein, and from printing the name of the complainant, its business or product in the "We Don't Patronize" or "unfair list."

Justice Van Orsdel concurred fully in the conclusion reached by Justice Robb, but by a different process of reasoning.

"The sustaining of such a decree by a court of equity would violate the constitutional rights of the citizen," says Justice Van Orsdel, in referring to Justice Gould's injunction decree. "It would mark the beginning of the era of judicial tyranny by the branch of the government charged with the duty of protecting the citizen in his constitutional or legal rights."

He says further that the clause in the constitution guaranteeing freedom of speech and free press forbids government censorship in all forms. "It would be difficult," he adds, "to conceive of a more effective method of establishing a government censorship than through the writ of injunction."

A partially dissenting opinion was presented by Chief Justice Shepard, who held that the decree should be modified "so as to restrain the acts only by which other persons have been or may be coerced into ceasing from business relations with the Bucks Stove and Range company," but not so as to restrain the publication of the name of that company in the "We Don't Patronize" column of the American Federationist, no matter what the object of such publication may be suspected or believed to be.

FARMERS ENTER PROTEST

Tell Legislators They Received Short
End of Deal.

Columbus, O., March 12.—Hundreds of letters of protest are being received by members of the general assembly from the farmers of the state against the work of the legislature this session. Most of them are of the same tenor, making the direct charge that the body has done nothing to relieve the farmer and everything it could to increase the farmer's taxes.

The principal objection is to the increase of the salaries of the county recorders and the passage of the armory bill, which puts the burden of the maintenance of the National Guard entirely on the property owner. This is the measure which provides a county levy equal to 10 cents per head for every legal resident of the county.

BRADLEY AND
THE PRESIDENTAre Very Friendly—Has Been Twice
at White House at Taft's Request.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Senator William O'Connell Bradley, of Kentucky, and President Taft are very friendly. The Kentuckians who thought the new Senator was going to get a hard slap on the wrist every time he went to the White House have another guess coming.

The Senator has been at the White House several times since March 4th, and twice at the President's request. Senator Bradley has told Mr. Taft only a few of his repertoire of good stories with the flavor of the Blue Grass soil, and the President holds his sides and laughs and laughs and tells the Senator he must come back right away.

The President and Senator Bradley are to have no trouble. Bradley is to be Senator for six years, and he has taken his place with a group of Senators, some of whom are Root, of New York; Hale, of Maine; Penrose, of Pennsylvania; Scott, of West Virginia; Crane, of Massachusetts; Burrows, of Michigan and other old stagers who know the game and who are Republicans from the ground up. William O'Connell is getting in good and it will not be long until he will have convinced the wayfarer and office-seeker from Kentucky that he is the man to see, and that he is not wearing the badge of a Senator for nothing.

The managers of the various Blue Grass League teams and the directors of that organization meets in Lexington Friday in the office of President George I. Hammond for the purpose of re-arranging the schedule of the league, which was made out and ratified some time ago. The meeting is necessitated by reason of the recent decision of the management of the Winchester team not to play any Sunday ball.

Today's meeting will be the most important of any held before the opening of the league as every manager and all the prominent officials of the league will be present and the final business arrangements for the year will be concluded. The selection of the Treasurer of the league also probably will be made at this meeting.

HERBERT KNOX SMITH, WHO LAYS BARE METHODS OF THE TOBACCO TRUST.

Herbert Knox Smith, United States commissioner of corporations, made some startling disclosures regarding the methods of the tobacco trust in his recent report on that organization. He declares that many so called independent concerns engaged in the tobacco business secretly operate under the direct control of the larger company. In concluding his report he says: "Many weaker concerns have been virtually driven out of business or forced to sell out to the combination either by reason of the direct competition of the latter or as an indirect result of the vigorous competition between the combination and larger independent concerns. In the case of the larger and more powerful concerns which it acquired, however, the combination has usually secured control only by paying a high price. The immense profits of the combination have enabled it to keep up this policy."

COMPROMISE
NOW PROPOSED"Insurgents" Meet Behind Closed Doors and Clam Ten New Recruits.

Washington, March 12.—For more than three hours the Republican "insurgents" discussed behind closed doors the details of the fight they propose to make next Monday when the Sixty-first congress convenes against the adoption of the rules of the last house to govern it.

The leaders of the movement expressed entire satisfaction with the size of the meeting, claiming that at least ten more members would vote with them against the rules. It is known that much of the time at the meeting was devoted to discussion of a compromise with the organization forces.

The suggestion was made that the "insurgents" enter into a compromise with the regulars whereby a committee would be appointed at the beginning of the special session to revise the rules of the house. Pending the report of the committee the rules of the last house would be enforced.

The sentiment of the meeting was that the speaker should not have the power of appointing the committee, if such a committee compromise was agreed upon.

Those present at the meeting were Representatives Gardner and Lovering of Massachusetts, Murdock and Madison of Kansas, Hubbard of Iowa, Morse, Cooper, Nelson, Kopp, Cary, Lenroot and Esch of Wisconsin, Miller and Davis of Minnesota, Kinkaid and Hinshaw of Nebraska, Gronna of North Dakota and Poindexter of Washington.

Under the direction of Prof. Moore, the Athletic Department has made rapid strides in the last year. The track team will soon take the field with great enthusiasm.
